Disarming Dialogues:

Reviving Humanities in Medical Education (RHiME) 2016 Workshop

2nd – 4th November 2016

FACULTY BIOS

Upreet Dhaliwal

Upreet Dhaliwal is Professor of Ophthalmology at the University College of Medical Sciences, University of Delhi, India. She is a fairly recent but fierce champion and believes that the medical humanities are key to reminding people of their – and others' - humanity. She is Editor of a medical humanities journal called Research & Humanities in Medical Education – or RHiME. RHiME is an online-only, open-access, peer-reviewed journal. It is now two-years-old-and-counting thanks to the selfless effort of a handful of fabulous people and practically no finances. Its latest offering is “Disarming Dialogues: Ethics and Professionalism” which are reflective student narratives with accompanying expert commentaries on issues of ethics and professionalism.
